EIE ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

2020 - 2021

Engineering education and practice is major driver of transformation, development, national growth and technological advancement across the globe. The impact of corona virus (Covid-19) pandemic on engineering education and practice. Reflections and rethinking were done on current educational research and teaching for engineers. Methodology adopted includes survey on level of impacts of virtual learning, knowledge acquisition, educational activities, technical and engineering practice during this pandemic.

Some challenges were identified for proper focus, rethink and refection. It has been concluded that there is need for adequate transformation, empowerment of educational system for achievement of sustainable development goals and smooth running of education in all institutions. Parents, teachers and all stakeholders need to key into the latest technology.

The impact of this disruption is very variable and depends, first, on their ability to stay active in their academic activities. This period of disruption in education has given us a chance to bring more autonomy and self-learning, better assessments and outcomes, and more technology to the classroom. Technology-based strategies are being adopted by teachers and academic institutions to supply education and to conduct technical events as a part of association

We adapted MICROSOFT TEAMS to conduct ASSOCIATION HOUR, the team was created with Name “EIE ASSOCIATION”, the Team formed included members, Principal, Head of Department, Faculty, Staff, students of final, third, second year (AY-20-21)

To uphold the potential of students, and to encourage the students, with valuable suggestions of HOD sir, various technical events were conducted by faculty coordinators and student committee.
